Celebrity's Hawaii

Welcome to a state of aloha and amazement.

A Land of Legends

Hawaii is more than sheer beauty. It is a land steeped in legend, with gods and goddesses playing prominent roles in the islands' mythology. Even today, the people of Hawaii respect fire goddess Pele and sun demigod Maui. You'll encounter their spirits when you explore Pele's domain in the active volcano Kilauea and Maui's Mount Haleakala, where the demigod was said to lasso the sun.

Oahu

Cosmopolitan Honolulu sits along famed Waikiki Beach and in the shadow of the dormant volcano Diamond Head. Here, you can enjoy world-class shopping, the Polynesian Cultural Center or a stirring visit to the USS Arizona Memorial in Pearl Harbor.

Maui

Sugar and pineapple plantations, a tropical rain forest and the 10,000-foot Haleakala volcano all lend a remarkable beauty and intrigue to this island. But its allure isn't limited to the land. Just off the coast is the sunken crater of Molokini, a favorite snorkeling and diving spot known for its kaleidoscopic underwater world.

Hawaii, The Big Island

The largest Hawaiian island isn't finished growing yet. Active volcano Kilauea has been erupting continually since 1983 and puts on quite a glowing show at night. In contrast to the black lava fields is a pristine rain forest and plantations where tropical fruits, macadamia nuts, coffee and flowers are harvested.

Celebrity's Panama Canal

Where a wonder of engineering meets the wonders of nature.

Panama Canal Facts

Get ready for the crossing of a life-time by reviewing these facts:

- U.S. construction of the canal started in 1906 and was completed in 1914, two years ahead of schedule. The final cost to construct the 50-mile canal was $352 million – a staggering amount at that time.
- 175 million cubic yards of earth had to be moved to dig the canal.
- 14,000 ships pass through the canal each year, an average of about 40 a day. The average crossing takes about 9 hours.
- The Panama Canal employs over 9,000 workers and operates 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

The Long and Short of It

The Panama Canal is 50 miles long, 10 miles wide, took over eight years to build and saves 8,000 miles of travel time from the Atlantic to the Pacific. A ship can pass through in about nine hours, versus approximately 15 days via the long route around Cape Horn. With its combination of brilliant engineering, overwhelming size, exotic setting and rich history, many seasoned travelers put a Panama Canal crossing at the very top of their “must-experience” list.

Bring Your Binoculars

Panama is a haven and refuge for multitudes of exotic plants and wildlife. It's the natural habitat of 960 species of birds, including rare varieties such as the king vulture. In fact, over 365 species can be found among the islands of Gatún Lake alone. Forest residents include capuchin monkeys, howler monkeys, three-toed sloths, caimans, crocodiles and turtles. And don't be surprised if, while relaxing on your veranda, you sight a colorful toucan perched high in the forest canopy.

Celebrity's South America

Shall We Dance?

The tango, a sensual dance that historically sparked as much controversy as passion, originated in Buenos Aires, Argentina. But it isn't the continent's only dance of love. The national dance of Chile is the cueca, in which couples imitate the mating ritual of chickens, with stomping feet and twirling handkerchiefs.

In Brazil, get ready to move to the well-known beats of the samba and bossa nova, two rhythms that will have you tapping your toes.

A Wild Side

In a geographically vast continent, it stands to reason that the wildlife would be equally diverse. Andean condors, black-browed albatross, elephant seals, sea lions, orca whales and five species of penguin are all possible to see on our itineraries. And no trip to South America would be complete without people-watching on Rio's famed Ipanema and Copacabana beaches.

A Continent of Extremes

While some of South America's cosmopolitan cities, quaint villages and architecture may remind you of Europe, and its cliff-lined fjords and massive glaciers may recall Alaska, this continent will captivate you in ways all its own. A land of extremes, South America transitions from towering mountains and glaciated fjords on its west coast, to sprawling white-sand beaches and bustling cities on its east. And don't forget two of the world's most famed nautical passages – the Panama Canal and Cape Horn – on its northern and southern extremities.

South, South, South America

A journey around Cape Horn will take you to what early explorers thought was the end of the world. They weren't too far off the mark. Situated within 1,000 miles of Antarctica, the southernmost point of South America is not just a place; it's an accomplishment. Journey this far and your voyage will be blessed with sights and experiences found nowhere else on earth.

Celebrity's Galapagos

Aboard Celebrity XpeditionSM

With a mere 100 guests per sailing, a 2-to-1 guest-to-staff ratio and many of the amenities you would expect from us, Celebrity Xpedition offers a truly intimate encounter with the Galapagos Islands. As the only major cruise line sailing these waters, Celebrity offers touches of the familiar, such as complimentary plush Frette[®] bathrobes, hot tub, sauna and fitness room – and our lounge, featuring nightly lectures by naturalists and live music. This cruise is all-inclusive, from staff gratuities to delectable local cuisine and from your favorite libations to shore excursions (plus all the gear you'll need, such as snorkeling equipment, wetsuits and binoculars). What's more, you'll have the comfort of knowing that while the Galapagos experience will touch you in unimagined ways, you'll sail this itinerary on a ship ecologically designed to leave the islands virtually untouched.

Cruising the Galapagos Islands

During your journey, you'll voyage more than 600 miles from the coast of Ecuador to cruise through islands so isolated they contain over 1,900 species of plants and animals that cannot be found anywhere else on the planet. And once you're there, you'll be delighted by the approachability of the creatures you'll see. Having lived thousands of years without fear of predators, they're as interested in you as you are in them.

Continuing Your Exploration

For a seamless Celebrity experience, you may start and end your journey in Quito, Ecuador, with a pre- and post-cruise package. This 10-night Galapagos Experience includes a fully guided Quito tour, your Galapagos cruise, transportation and Celebrity concierge service. You'll also have the rare opportunity of combining your Galapagos cruise with a 4-night Best of Ecuador & Peru post-cruise tour. During your journey, knowledgeable guides will lead you through Peru's well-preserved archeological sites, including Lima, Cuzco, The Sacred Valley, Ollantaytambo and Machu Picchu.

10-Night Galapagos Experience

During your Galapagos experience, you'll spend three nights in Quito and seven nights aboard the intimate Celebrity XpeditionSM experiencing the Galapagos Islands. Several excursion options offered each day, included with your cruise and accompanied by expert guides, allow you to choose between high, medium and low intensity so you can encounter each island at your own pace.

Our 10-night Galapagos Experience includes two nights pre-cruise and one night post-cruise in Quito for a seamless Celebrity vacation from the time your plane lands in Ecuador. During a guided tour of the capital of Ecuador, situated at an altitude of 9,350 feet, you'll stand on the equatorial line at the Half of the World Park and Museum, and marvel at the monasteries of San Francisco and Santo Domingo. Your Celebrity representative will escort you from the Quito airport all the way to Baltra Island in the Galapagos. At the airport, enjoy refreshments in the Royal Palm VIP Lounge, which has been reserved for you. Your luggage will be delivered straight to your stateroom aboard Celebrity Xpedition, so you can unpack and enjoy exploring the 296-foot megayacht, your home for the week.

North Seymour Island is home to a thriving colony of frigate birds, the largest in the Galapagos. Keep an eye on the males' red throats, which may inflate like a balloon at the sight of a female. You may also encounter breeding pairs of blue-footed boobies displaying their slow mirror dance and spot numerous iguanas and sea lions. In early morning, we'll circumnavigate Kicker Rock, known as the Galapagos version of Gibraltar, and you may take a Zodiac cruise to the rock for closer observation. After breakfast, your morning excursion options include a dry landing for shopping and a visit to the sea lion rookery, and advanced snorkeling from the Zodiac. Punta Suárez, or Suárez Point, is located on the oldest Galapagos island and has a high concentration of wildlife. Expect to observe sea lions, Galapagos hawks, blue-footed and masked boobies, and red marine iguanas, strange creatures found only on this island.
